Natural, renewable and recyclable fibre from sustainable forests

Wood is UPM's most important raw material, so it is imperative that it comes from sustainably managed forests. This natural, renewable and recyclable resource is used efficiently in both pulp and paper manufacture and in energy production.

Biodiversity

Biodiversity means the variety of life around us - it includes diversity within species, between species and among species. Safeguarding biodiversity gives us future options for as yet unknown, unutilized resources. It offers variety for tomorrow's needs.

Safeguarding biodiversity is a key part of sustainable forest management and one of the key agreements adopted at the Rio World Summit in 1992 was the Convention on Biological Diversity www.biodiv.org. This pact sets out commitments for the conservation of biological diversity which are implemented by governments, landowners and companies like UPM through national strategies and action plans.

EU Eco-label

Most of UPM's paper mills have been awarded the European Union Eco-label for copying and graphic paper, also known as the "EU Flower". The EU Eco-label proves the good environmental quality of the paper. It covers all the major environmental aspects, and serves as a guarantee of a sustainable activity and secures a minimal environmental impact of the paper product, both in the use and choice of raw materials as well as in the production processes.
